Living Cost Up for the Seventh Straight Month

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported today that the cost of living reached a new record for the seventh straight month in March.

It brought automatic wage hikes of 1 to 3 cents an hour for 1,400,000 workers.

The government also reported that the purchasing power of the average factory workers pay check declined in March for the second month in a row. The decline wiped out gains made in buying power since March, 1956.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' price index rose two-tenths of one percent between February and March to 116.9 per cent of average 1947-1949 prices. The index was 3.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

The rise means a 3-cent hourly pay raise for nearly one million railroad workers on May 1 under semi-annual wage escalation provisions in their wage contracts. Another 400,000 workers scattered through the aircraft, electrical, and a variety of other industries also will get some pay raises under similar clauses.

The BLS reported that average weekly take-home pay — earnings after federal taxes — for factory workers declined by more than 20 cents between February and March. The decline, it said, reflected a drop in the average work week.

The average factory take-home pay in March for a worker with three dependents was $74.65 a week.

The decline in take-home pay and the rise in the cost of living combined to drop buying power of the average factory worker to slightly lower than a year ago. The BLS said it was the first time in more than 2½ years that the monthly buying power figure showed no increase over the previous year.

BLS reported that food prices declined four-tenths of one per cent in March, mainly for eggs and pork. Increases for all other major groups of goods and services more than offset the decline.

Price increases were reported for rents, dry cleaning and laundry services, water rates, mortgage interest rates, and home maintenance costs; clothing, used cars, gasoline and motor oil, medical care, haircuts, toiletries, movie admissions, newspapers, and television sets.

H. E. Riley, chief of the BLS price division, said the outlook for April is for further increases in major groups of goods and services, including food.

He refused to predict what might lie ahead beyond April.

Men to Take Part in Annual Flower Show

So you think a Flower Show is strictly for the women? Well, you are wrong because this year's annual Flower Show, sponsored by the Hope Federation of Garden Clubs is including men and children.

Yes, men are given a whole entry to themselves. They are free to create whatever interpretation they wish to give to a flower arrangement whether it be line, period, mass, or just plain mess arrangement.

Hope's children who are members of Junior Garden Clubs will create a "Garden Wonderland" for the Flower Show. There will be fairy stories illustrated by flowery magic in rocks, and Teeny, Weenie, Genie arrangements in a perfume bottle.

Of course the bulk of the Flower Show will be put on by the women members of the various Garden Clubs in the city.

Texarkanian to Testify in Probe

TEXARKANA, Tex. (UP)—Senators investigating alleged labor racketeering will hear manufacturer Earl P. Bettendorf explain his side on alleged pay-offs to Teamster Union officials.

Bettendorf said here yesterday he will appear next Monday before the committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark).

When Bettendorf's name was mentioned in connection with dealings in Scranton, Pa., he dispatched a wire last week to McClellan asking to appear "so that your committee can correct the injustice done me."

Bettendorf operates a warehouse pallet manufacturing plant at Ashdown, Ark.

Two Teamster business agents who have appeared before the committee are accused of accepting $4,200 from Bettendorf. The dealings were "aboveboard," Bettendorf commented later.

Cairo Reports Jordan's Hussein Has Resigned

CAIRO (UP)—Cairo radio said today the Cabinet of Jordan Premier Hussein Khalidi had resigned. There was no confirmation from Amman. The radio quoted the Middle East News Agency as saying Khalidi had resigned this afternoon after a meeting with all political party leaders.

CAIRO (UP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser today called an extraordinary cabinet session for tomorrow night to consider the Suez Canal and the explosive struggle for power in Jordan.

The fast-moving events in Jordan and the struggle between King Hussein and his political opponents faced Egypt and its neutral Arab bloc with the gravest crisis since last year's three-power invasion.

Cairo radio, the powerful "voice of the Arabs," beamed a steady barrage of charges by King Hussein's opponents to the Jordanian people while Egyptian newspapers openly sided against the palace.

The Cairo press supported charges that the Jordan crisis was an American-backed plot to bring Jordan into the orbit of the Eisenhower doctrine.

Arab circles in Cairo said openly they believed yesterday's street demonstrations in Jordan might signal the beginning of a mass outburst against Hussein and his new cabinet.

Informed sources said the cabinet would study the Suez Canal negotiations and may approve Egypt's plan for control of canal navigation. Negotiations between the United States, Egypt and the United Nations were believed approaching an end.

The demonstrations broke out in Jordanian towns on the west bank of the Jordan River as Arab nationalist elements urged the Jordanian people to move against the "imperialist conspirators in Amman."

The powerful, ultra-nationalist radio "Voice of the Arabs" in Cairo began a series of fiery broadcasts to the Jordanian people in an outburst of propaganda warfare that strict Amman censorship could not shut off.

The Cairo radio station broadcasts the statements in Damascus by Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar that the current events in Jordan were designed to throw the country into the Baghdad Pact and make it accept the Eisenhower doctrine.

City Manager Plan Not a Very Drastic Change

It was pointed out by advocates of the City Manager form of government that the adoption of the new plan would not be a radical change from the present system. In the present system, rulings are made by an elected council, and in the City Manager form, rulings are made by the council.

The major difference is that under the present Mayor-Aldermanic form of government, the Mayor is elected, and under the City Manager plan the City Manager is selected by the council to manage the city affairs.

The present Mayor-Aldermanic plan community has these characteristics: (1) A city council with committees dealing into details; (2) an elected mayor; (3) separately elected department heads; (4) administrative boards elected or appointed for overlapping terms. This form of government has been found undesirable because it lends itself easily to political manipulation.

Ike Confident Control of Arms Is Still Possible

By MARVIN L. ARRIWSMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower today reaffirmed that the United States is confident "controls and reduction of arms are possible, desirable and in the last reckoning, indispensable."

The President's view was set forth in a statement issued at his vacation headquarters after he conferred for 75 minutes with Harold E. Stassen, his disarmament adviser.

Stassen flew to Augusta from Washington for the conference and made ready to start back to London for resumption of United Nations disarmament talks there tomorrow.

Those talks which stated last month and recessed over the Easter weekend, have caused United States officials to be cautiously hopeful that Russia finally may be ready to take some small first step toward bringing the East-West atomic weapons race under international control.

A statement issued after the conference at the Augusta National Club was carefully worded to guard against any idea of excessive optimism.

The statement, by White House press secretary James C. Hangerly said Eisenhower had encouraged the U. S. delegation to follow through thoroughly in the resumption of negotiations which will start again in London on Wednesday.

Alluding then to a major foreign policy speech which Secretary of State Dulles made at the Associated Press annual luncheon meeting in New York yesterday, the White House statement said:

"The President reaffirmed that United States policy is, as stated by the secretary of state in his speech of yesterday, that:

"We consider that controls and reduction of arms are possible, desirable and in the last reckoning, indispensable. It is not essential that controls should encompass everything at once. In fact, progress is likely to come by steps carefully measured and carefully taken."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower and Harold Stassen, cautiously hopeful Russia may be about ready to move toward armaments reduction, today size up the "serious effort" by the United States to win an acceptable agreement.

Stassen, the President's adviser on disarmament matters, will fly back to Washington immediately after his conference with Eisenhower at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Later in the day he is scheduled to take off for London and the resumption there tomorrow of negotiations with the Soviet Union at meetings of a U. N. subcommittee on disarmament.

The London talks produced no agreement during the first month. The Russians, however, reportedly seemed to be developing a greater interest in what U. S. officials have referred to as "an initial partial agreement for a first step" toward disarmament with adequate inspection and control safeguards.

Foreign Aid Control Switch Suggested

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) proposed today that administration of foreign aid be shifted to the State Department and put in charge of a new undersecretary for economic affairs.

Mansfield, the Senate's acting Democratic leader, also called for an interview for transfer of the United States Information Agency to State and its operation under the direction of the assistant secretary for public affairs.

Mansfield made these proposals after Secretary of State Dulles appealed yesterday for public support to preserve the administration's foreign military and economic aid program from those with "a zeal to economize."

Dulles made this obvious reference to economy advocates in Congress in a foreign policy review before the annual Associated Press luncheon in New York.

Youth With Gun Subdued by Police

By JACK BELL

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Assistant Police Chief Gene Smith slipped into the rear of a house last night and overpowered an armed 15-year-old youth who had held a score of police at bay for three hours while firing wildly into a residential street here.

Held at city jail today was a boy who gave his name to police as Frankie Joe Wilson. His aunt, Mrs. Ollie Newton, 58, identified him as Frankie Joe Newton.

She said he had been discharged more than a month ago from State Hospital.

The siege of the house in west Little Rock was witnessed by hundreds of persons from safe vantage points. No one was injured.

Police surrounding the house were debating when to use tear gas as Smith, who was off duty, crawled through a window, removed his shoes and grabbed the youth from behind while he talked with a minister.

The pastor was called to the scene after a physician had been turned away from the door by Newton.

Events last night somewhat paralleled an incident several years ago here Smith off duty at the time, shot to death a mental escapee as the man walked out of a house with a rifle behind a terrified woman hostage.

Students Interested in Jobs With State

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A "considerable increase" in the number of high school students interested in state jobs was reported today by the Arkansas Merit System Council.

Supervisor John T. Hogue said materials to be used in examinations for 675 seniors have been sent to 67 Arkansas high schools, and to Arkansas State College of Jonesboro.

The students will be attempting to qualify for positions of junior clerk, senior clerk, junior stenographer, senior stenographer, typist and clerical typist Hogue said.

Air Force to Flight Test Missiles

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force is moving into the flight test phase of its ballistic missile program and expects to begin launching virtually complete versions of weapons in the months just ahead.

The missiles to be tested are what designers describe as "production configurations." They are turned out on mass production facilities instead of being hand-built, and lack only some of the detailed equipment which will go into eventual fully operational use by ballistic missile squadrons.

First of the full-scale test firings, at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., probably will be that of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM). It is to be followed by tests of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) and then of the second ICBM design, the Titan.

A vast amount of preliminary testing of parts already has been done, including not only rocket engines but gyro controls, nose cones and guidance equipment.

Experts say that the first test firings of the ICBM will not necessarily involve attempts to reach the full 5,000-mile range southward into the Atlantic.

To attain a 5,000-mile range, it is estimated that the speed of an ICBM must be between 15,000 and 16,000 miles per hour. A somewhat slower speed is required for the 1,500-mile range of an IRBM.

Depending on the range desired, a ballistic missile may be sent up to a trajectory peak of between 300 and 800 miles above the earth.

One Air Force missile official expressed today "complete confidence" in the success of the ICBM project.

Jordan Police Confiscate Red Leaflets

AMMAN, Jordan (UP)—Jordan police today confiscated batches of Communist leaflets urging the nation to unite against an Anglo-American "conspiracy." The leaflets apparently were of Soviet origin.

The leaflets said that "Anglo-American imperialists were plotting alongside the palace in a conspiracy against the people."

They called on the people and the Army to "stand united against this conspiracy which resulted in the firing of the national cabinet and the arrest and the jailing of army officers."

The leaflets were distributed on the streets of Amman only one day after extreme Nationalists held peaceful demonstrations in the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem and in the city of Nablis against such "conspiracies."

The leaflets calling for an end to the government of Premier Hussein El Khalidi appeared to be part of a Communist effort to restore left-wing Premier Suleiman Nabulsi to power.

The announcement came as a five-man military committee prepared to report to a committee of cabinet ministers on incidents involving the Jordan army in the nation's political crisis. The ministers included Khalid and the ministers of justice and interior.

The incidents under study were not announced, but within recent weeks Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, chief of staff of the Jordan army, and Maj. Gen. Ali El Hayari, his successor, fled to Syria.

Attic Fire Causes Store Damage

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—An attic fire early today caused an estimated $6,000 to $7,000 damage to stock and fixtures at the Millam Grocery, located west of the Little Rock city limits.

Dean Syer, chief of the Fire Dept. who estimated the loss, said the blaze apparently started in electric wiring.

Ask Doctors to Endow Med Center

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The president of the Arkansas Medical Society today urged doctors to set up an endowment fund so that the new Medical Center would not be dependent on federal funds.

Dr. Fount Richardson of Fayetteville said that alumni of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine and other physicians "could raise a fund of one million dollars within the next three years to begin such a program."

In an address at the opening session of the medical society convention, Dr. Richardson scored the "classic shortsightedness of our times" — the contention "that federal aid does not mean federal control. It does mean federal control and once established is a yoke that is rarely escaped."

With a locally supported and administered foundation, Dr. Richardson said, "we can know that every penny goes for medicine and medical education. We can know that we are not begging at the doorstep of a paternalistic government for services that we can do for ourselves. We can accept our responsibilities and command our own destiny in the American way."

quacy of amateur council committees as supervisors of technical departments and seek relief by installing a professional full-time manager. They recognize that it takes more than the ability to win an election to draw up a sound budget, select the most appropriate type of fire fighting apparatus, or plan the services which will be required by their city ten or fifteen years from now. It must be remembered that City Manager can be hired and also fired by the Council. The Council is elected by the people, and it is the people's responsibility to see that high-caliber men are elected to this council. In the event that a person was elected to this council who did not look out for the best interests of the people, he could be removed or recalled by the same type of petition that was signed to put him on the ballot in the first place.

On the other hand, just because some offices are appointed under the City Manager plan that were elective offices under the old system, is no assurance that the council could not replace these offices if the quality of their work, or their behavior in office was not as it should be. All offices would be under the control of the city council.

British Admit Russia Warned About Invasion

LONDON (AP)—British disclosed last night Russia warned her before the Suez invasion that such an attack would prompt the Arabs to sabotage the canal, cutting off the lifeblood of the British Empire.

Publication of an exchange between Soviet Premier Bulganin and then Prime Minister Eden also revealed the British appeal to the Soviet Union to help in internationalizing the disputed waterway.

Prime Minister Macmillan's office made the hitherto secret letter public barely five hours after the Russians announced they would come out today with the exchanges between Bulganin and French Premier Guy Mollet.

Britain apparently hoped to take some of the propaganda punch out of what was viewed as a Soviet move to picture Russia as guardian of the Arab world, counter the Eisenhower Doctrine and drive a new wedge between the United States and her two chief allies.

There was no indication in Paris, however, that the French would make public the Mollet-Bulganin exchange.

Leonid Tykhter, Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman, told newsmen in Moscow yesterday the letters would be made public to blunt western attempts to cast "a shadow on the peaceful aims of Soviet foreign policy."

The exchange began with a letter from Bulganin to Eden, Sept. 11, seven weeks before the British-French invasion.

This letter told Eden military action would result in the sabotage of the canal and oil fields and pipelines in the Arab states.

"This means," Bulganin wrote, "that material loss, particularly to Britain and France and for that matter to the whole of Europe would assume immense proportions."

After the invasion began, Egypt did sink ships to block the canal. Syria blew up the oil pipeline from Iraq leading inside Syria and cut the vital flow to Europe.

Rainstorms Strike Three SW States

DALLAS (AP)—A squall line that spawned a new flurry of tornadoes swept across the eastern part of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas today, trailing hail and thunderstorms behind it.

The Weather Bureau said heavy rainstorms were trailing as much as 100 to 200 miles behind it, but the squall line appeared to be losing much of its punch as it moved east.

Swollen rivers and creeks posed new flood threats in some Texas areas after heavy downpours the last four days.

Eight confirmed twisters were sighted or struck in Texas yesterday, causing considerable property damage. Five tornadoes struck or were sighted in Kansas and five more lashed portions of Oklahoma yesterday and last night. No injuries were reported. Heavy rain soaked portions of the worst drought area of west Texas last night, but began tapering off early today. The area is the only one in which state officials say the seven-year Texas drought has not been broken by heavy spring rainfall. A deluge measured up to 1.48 inches drenched San Angelo, where President Eisenhower visited on his drought tour in January.

The thunderstorm almost doubled the years rainfall in the area, which measured 1.83 inches before the rain last night. Hail and winds buffeted small towns near San Angelo and at least half an inch of rain fell across a wide section of the drought-parched area. The heaviest damage in the Texas tornadoes yesterday was caused by a twister that dipped down near the Leslie community, about 16 miles west of Memphis in the Texas Panhandle. Homes, barns and outbuildings were damaged or destroyed on at least half a dozen farms.

Three others hit in the South Plains, three in East Texas and one near Odessa. Hailstones covered the ground at the Midland-Odessa air terminal. One of the twisters in east Texas damaged windows and a roof at Jacksonville.

OLDSMOBILE

THE WORLD'S MOST VERSATILE CAR

OLD OWNER: "Mary and I decided we ought to get a little more out of life than just the ordinary things. That's when we started thinking about an Olds."

NEIGHBOR: "But what made you choose Olds?"

OLD OWNER: "Well, we talked to our dealer. Frankly, it was quite a surprise to find that a Golden Rocket 88 cost lots less than we'd guessed."

NEIGHBOR: "That was a mighty good reason."

OLD OWNER: "Of course, what really sold Mary was looks and style. It has a look that grows on you... won't be out of style overnight. Me, I liked the Rocket Engine. What a sweetheart! 277 horsepower!"

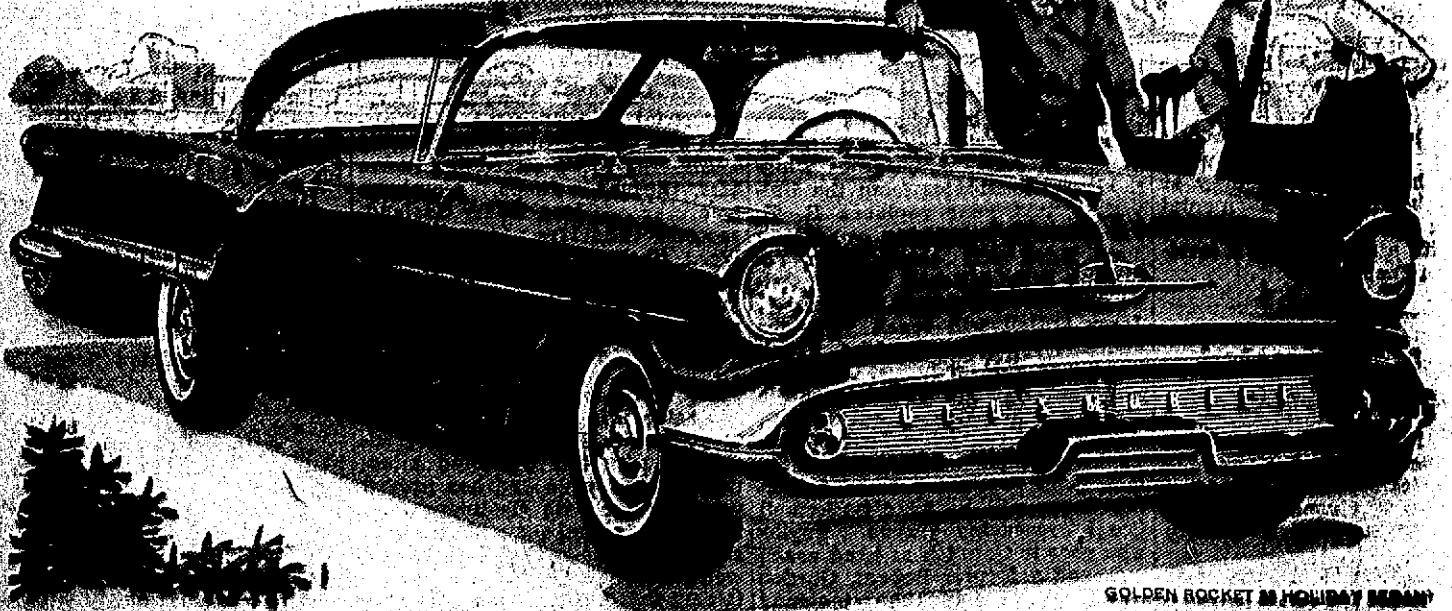

NEIGHBOR: "How does it ride?"

OLD OWNER: "We think it's the smoothest ride we've ever had. I don't know what Olds did, but you can drive all day and arrive relaxed. No sideways... no leaning... no jolts. It's terrific!"

NEIGHBOR: "We've talked about getting an Olds, too, you know."

OLD OWNER: "Here, I'll give you the name of my Olds dealer. He talks your language. Better see him soon."

"Sure, I'll tell you why we bought an Olds!"

2nd Hundred Years Seem the Hardest

By SY RAMSEY

DEWITT (P) — Sometimes the second hundred years seem hardest to Jim B. Manues, who says he fought Yankee soldiers in Tennessee when he was more active.

Manues, short and durable looking, claims today is his 100th birthday. Mrs. Manues, who became a bride two years ago, says she is 85 today.

Until about a year ago, Manues was amazingly sprightly for his age. He walked the mile from his small house into the business district of this southeast Arkansas town daily without a cane — and carried back groceries.

He chopped firewood, bustled himself around his garden and even kept his eyes on a cow he was raising near the house.

Now the grizzled Jack of all trades has slowed down and an occasional mood of the elderly has caught up with him.

"I don't know why I've lived so long," Manues said. "I don't know what use I am now."

But he still is spirited enough to look for greener fields. Manues and his wife recently went halfway across Arkansas to Paris by bus. They may relocate in a larger house with a larger garden.

Attorney Wilbur Botts, a long-time friend of Manues, said some legal technicalities are causing "the industrious old man" some concern.

U. S. Cautious in Relaxing China Trade

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (P) — Officials said today the United States will move slowly and cautiously in carrying out its agreement to relax all trade controls on trade with Red China.

The State Department announced Saturday that the Eisenhower administration had agreed to negotiate with 14 Allied nations a reduction in the list of items embargoed for Red China. At the same time it called for an increase in the Soviet bloc trade control list and tightening up of control machinery.

The announcement emphasized that this country has no intention of modifying its own total embargo on all trade with the Chinese Communists.

The decision was made in response to long-time British and Japanese pressures. The issue has been a sore point in American relations with British and Japan.

Their demands for revision constituted one side of a squeeze in which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have been caught for more than a year.

The other side consists of pressures in Congress to maintain the highest possible restrictions on all free world trade with the whole president and the minutes were read and approved. Mrs. J. W. Smith was a guest of the group. She discussed and commented upon practice arrangements which the group was doing prior to the flower show. She also assisted in determining the winning arrangement for the month which was a Hogarth arrangement by Mrs. Billy Dan Jones.

After the meeting a dessert plate and iced drinks were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Billy Dan Jones.

Miss McKisack of Bodcaw to be married. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cornelius of Bodcaw announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn, to James Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hatfield of Hope.

Wedding plans will be announced at a later date.

Pansy Garden Club. At Oglesby. The Pansy Garden Club of Oglesby School met Monday, April 15th, in the school auditorium with the President, David Waddle, presiding.

The Secretary, Sonya Yates, read the minutes of the last meeting and Phala Brown, Bill Land and Betty Dodson led in singing America and Easter Parade. Mrs. Joe Reese from the Iris Club gave instructions for the flower show that is to be held in the near future, and Mrs. Reese and Mrs. Troy Greenlee made sample arrangements and answered the questions of the members. Mrs. T. V. Messer announced that the Pansy Garden Club would have their own flower show Wednesday, April 24th at the school.

After the meeting was adjourned the sponsors served candy to the 56 members present.

Coming and Going. Mrs. F. E. Newblinney and daughter, Mrs. Billy Orwein and son Paul Lynn of Lakeview, Oregon arrived via plane Monday morning for a two weeks visit in the J. T. Fuller home and the C. J. Rowe home.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cox of Little Rock are visiting Mr. Cox parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Cox, 216 North Harvey St. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are enroute to Georgia where they will spend the next 6 months.

'Kelly and Me' Charms With Van Johnson in Choice Role

"Kelly and Me," starring Van Johnson, Piper Laurie, Martha Hyer and a wonderful, talented German Shepherd dog named Kelly, opens Wednesday at the Saenger theater and proves to be the most colorful, heartwarming, bright laugh-filled film in many a month.

The story of a down-and-out vaudeville performer who finds success only when he teams up with a dog, "Kelly and Me" gives audiences a nostalgic Technicolor-CinemaScope peek into the last great days of vaudeville in the early 1930's. And when the dog takes his erstwhile master to Hollywood for a fling as screen star, audiences are let in on some hilariously funny scenes of lifemaking in that era.

Casting of Van Johnson in the role of the vaudevillian marks a welcome return to singing and dancing roles for him. His several song and dance numbers, especially two absolutely amazing ones with the dog, are peppy and pleasant.

Kelly, the canine star of "Kelly and Me," is one of the most versatile and perfectly trained dog stars ever seen on the screen. A beautiful white Shepherd, he goes through an endless array of show-stopping stunts that would be difficult even for a human actor.

Glamour, and a lot of it, is added by Piper Laurie, in the role of the daughter of a motion picture studio head, and Martha Hyer as a sly screen vamp. Piper really matures in this role, a good change of pace from her long series of "little girl" characterizations. Miss Hyer is strikingly beautiful, gorgeously costumed and delivers a top-notch performance. Onslow Stevens, Hebert Anderson and Frank Wilcox are standouts in the supporting cast. Direction by Robert Z. Leonard and production by Robert Arthur aid immensely in making "Kelly and Me" the lively, amusing and sentimental hit it will surely be.

Boss Won't Let Secretary Mingle With the Help

Dear Dorothy Dix: We're a group of young girls in an office. We often go out in the evenings or on week ends, and have invited the boss's secretary to go with us. She's an awfully nice girl and we hope to come, but she says her boss has to let her see that she can't have social contacts with the "help." Is this attitude proper? The boss is quite old.

THALIA AND CO. What an employee does on her own time is, I feel, her own business. The restriction may be wrong, but was probably set because the girl knows a lot about the business that the boss doesn't want known among the other employees. The secretary will, of course, keep such information confidential in or out of business hours.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have heard rumors that the boy whose ring I am wearing had many other girl friends, some of them while we were dating. I've never gone with another girl. He says he did date other girls, but not until he went with me did he find the right one. Is it possible that he could forget all these other girls so quickly?

ANNE Dear Anne: What are you looking for — a hermit? Practically every boy has dated many girls by the time he's reached 22 or so. The girl he asks to be his wife can be sure she's won the competition; to entertain jealous thoughts about casual friends of the past is foolish.

Be proud that you have been chosen and that there were others for you to shine above.

Dear Dimples: Three break-ups in two months is a signal for a permanent sign-off. You like playing the field but enjoy the security of a boy who is always available. The two situations don't mix.

Until you acquire the maturity to be content with one beau, don't bind a boy with false promises.

Refuses to Waive Extradition. LITTLE ROCK (P) — A Leslie, Ark., man refused yesterday to waive extradition to California on kidnapping and rape charges.

He is Bobby Joe Weicher, 23, who was arrested April 9 at Conway by the FBI on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The extradition hearing was conducted at the governor's office by Claude B. Carpenter Jr., administrative assistant to Gov. Orval Faubus.

Injured fatally when they were struck by a car Saturday night near Pine Bluff Harry Humes, 51, died yesterday, following his wife, Loyce, 54, car struck another pedestrian at Fort Smith Saturday night. The victim was Arelt William 10, of Alma, who was killed as he attempted to cross a residential street.

The Highway Commission contended that this constituted a dedication for highway use and as a result and then owners, Raymond Robinson, Barney Ellis and Edward Ellis were not entitled to compensation.

Rebassman and his associates asked $101,600 and a jury in Pulaski Circuit Court awarded $8,040. This award was upheld by the Supreme Court.

The High Court ruled there was a distinction between a dedication for a highway and a reservation for the purpose.

The Supreme Court also rejected a contention of the Highway Commission that the trial court erred in admitting testimony concerning value of the two plots as residential lots.

"The established rule," the court said, "is that the owner may be allowed to show every advantage his property possesses, present and prospective in order that the jury may determine satisfactorily what price it could be sold for on the market."

The Supreme Court affirmed a judgment of $2,000 for John Stair, whose automobile, the court said, was struck "practically simultaneously" from front and rear in an accident on Fort Smith's Rogers Avenue.

Ike, Stassen Meet to Talk Disarmament

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (P) — President Eisenhower will confer here tomorrow with Harold E. Stassen and fresh indications the United States now sees some chance for agreement with Russia on a first step toward disarmament.

Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, is scheduled to arrive by plane from Washington tonight. After talks with the vacationing President at the Augusta National Golf Club, he will return to London for resumption of disarmament negotiations by a U. N. subcommittee.

Recess of the negotiations for the Easter weekend brought Stassen to Washington Saturday for a interim report to Secretary of State Dulles and other administration officials. After that meeting the government put out a statement calling for a continued "serious effort to reach an initial partial agreement for a first step" toward disarmament with safeguards for inspection and control. White House press secretary James C. Flaherty said Dulles has recommended that Stassen make a personal report to the President.

17 Persons Die Violently in Arkansas

By The Associated Press

At least 17 persons died violently in Arkansas during the week which ended Sunday midnight.

Traffic accidents killed eight in the final three days of the week.

Two deaths resulted from separate industrial accidents, and two persons were drowned. Other fatal mishaps included a tractor accident, a fall from a tree and an electrocution.

A shooting in a Cove, Ark., church Friday claimed the life of a member of the congregation, Miss Helen Griffith, 20.

A 3-vehicle collision near Newport yesterday killed William Herbert Drummonds, a 28-year-old rice farmer of the Newport area.

Injured in the crash was Laven Lester, 28, of Newport.

State Trooper Don Wilcox said a truck driven by Herman Pollard of Saint Louis, and a car driven by Drummonds collided on U. S. Highway 67 about two miles north of Newport. He said the truck and the car then collided with Lester's car.

A man and his wife were in Communist bloc.

President Eisenhower told a news conference two weeks ago the United States must recognize the dependence of Japan and Britain on international trade.

Robbins Gives Notice He Wants Title

By KEN ALYTA
PINEHURST N. C. (AP)—Second Lt. Hillman Robbins has demonstrated that he is not going to give up his North and South amateur golf title without a struggle. The lanky linksman from Memphis, Tenn., now stationed at Blytheville Air Force Base, Ark., began an impressive defense of the championship he won last year by shooting a three under par 69 to win the medal in yesterday's qualifying round.

The only other man to break par 72 places in today's first round of match play. The 16 men tied at 79 for the last nine positions and were scheduled for a sudden death playoff today to complete the field.

Robbins, who hadn't realized that yesterday was his 25th birthday until he checked the date after he stepped off the 18th green, had a 33-36 card against a par of 36-36 for the rugged No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club. The course has been extended to 7,000 yards by tees placed as far back as possible.

Three players tied for third place at par 72 and all had 34-38 cards. They were Lawrence Cook of the Wrightsville Beach, N. C., policeman with a cross-hand grip, and the Augusta, G. A. pair of Jake Howard semifinalist last year, and Cobby Ware.

Former North-South champions Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., Billy Joe Patton of Morgan, N. C., and Don Bispingshoff of Winter Park Fla., all qualified, although none menaced the leaders.

Stancil to Coach at Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, (AP)—Assistant football coach William H. Stancil of Blytheville High School has been named to succeed Steed White as head football coach at Fort Smith High School.

The 33-year-old Harrisburg, Ark., native was selected from 15 applicants, Supt. Chris Corbin announced yesterday.

White resigned recently to take an assistant coaching job at the University of Arkansas. Both he and Stancil are former Razorbacks.

Haney Not Impressed by Braves' 5 Games

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Manager Fred Haney isn't about to go off the deep end over his Milwaukee Braves' five-game winning streak mainly because they haven't looked like world beaters in the process.

"So we've got a streak going and we're leading the National League," he said before today's scheduled game with the Chicago Cubs, "but those two one-run wins against Cincinnati could have gone the other way."

"Take that ball (Ted) Kluszewski hit Saturday," Haney continued. "Another tool and it would have gone over the fence for a home run and they would have had two runs, enough to win." The Braves won that game 5-4.

"Our pitching has been good, but we haven't been exactly overpowering the ball," he said. "Yes-

Scientists Study Glands and Brain Boss

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP)—A mysterious brain boss and body glands are being grown under glass to solve some of life's deep secrets, scientists reported today.

Living bits of these organs are being kept at work in test tubes to learn how big they are.

The technique is an initial step toward putting all the body's glands and hormones into a test-tube system for more knowledge of how they control life, health, sex and activities.

The brain center is the hypothalamus, deep in the middle of the brain.

There is increasing evidence that it is top dog over the body's whole gland system. It seems to regulate an amazing number of functions, including heart beat, breathing, appetite and temperature. In humans, it appears to be the switchboard of emotions too, relaying thought and feelings into effects and influences on the body.

The hypothalamus sits atop the pituitary gland, long thought to be the body's master gland. The pituitary releases powerful hormones. Some of them control or affect the adrenal glands, sex and other glands.

But a current idea is that the pituitary really takes orders from the hypothalamus. The hypothalamus seems to be the governor or real manager.

Interactions of hypothalamus and pituitary glands from rats are being studied by Dr. Irving S. Johnson and R. Barbara Mattas of the Biological Research Division, Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis.

Today was the first time we had a little breathing space."

"No sir," continued the 57-year-old skipper, "I'm not reading anything into this streak because we still have a long way to go."

Search on for Man Blown From Plane

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Iraqi officials combed through desert wastes today for the body of an American apparently blown through the shattered window of a French airliner 18,000 feet above Iraq.

The American—identified by police as J. R. Nash of Memphis, Tenn.—was en route from Tehran to Istanbul. The 31-year-old bachelor with a passion for travel was on the last leg of an aerial round-the-world trip when he disappeared Saturday night.

Although airmen described the accident as extremely rare, an Air France spokesman in Paris said it was "not without precedent."

The Paris spokesman and Air France officials in Istanbul gave this version:

The four-engine Constellation was about 25 miles north of Jir-kouk, northern Iraq, when the third window on the right side of the plane burst "with a loud explosion."

Nash, who was asleep in the seat next to the window, was sucked out.

The plane immediately filled with steam as frigid air from outside poured into the heated cabin.

When the air finally cleared, other passengers noticed that Nash was missing.

The plane descended quickly to a lower level while shivering passengers crowded into the front of the craft until it arrived at Istanbul.

lis. They described the technique and results to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

A first study concerns growth hormone, produced by the pituitary. When there is too much growth hormone, people grow seven feet tall or more. With too little, they are short-statured.

Their experiments indicate the hypothalamus, in rate at least, can control how much growth hormone comes from the pituitary.

Comments From Distinguished Citizens of America!

Woodrow Wilson: "I regard the manager plan of municipal government as a marked advance over any other plan hitherto tried in this country, from the standpoint of both democracy and efficiency."

Herbert Hoover: "It seems to me one of the ways out of our difficulties in producing sound municipal government."

Charles Edison, former governor of New Jersey: "The council-manager plan combines efficiency with democratic control by putting a professional in charge of city services and making him responsible at all times to a council that had no duty except to see that the government is conducted in the best interests of the whole city."

Harold W. Dodds, President, Princeton University: "The council-manager plan of municipal government has in many cases proved to be a marked improvement over either the mayor-and-council or the commission plan."

Chicago Daily News: "In our opinion, the city manager plan is the best yet devised for efficient municipal operation."

A NEW PROGRESSIVE ERA DAWNS WITH MILLWOOD DAM

Let's Be Ready With Progressive Municipal Government!

Facts About How City Manager Plan Would Work in Hope, Arkansas

1. There is a clear cut distinction between policy making and administration. The Board of Directors does not concern itself with the minor details of administration, but deals with the general policies and objectives of government of the city. The Board of Directors is responsible for selecting the city manager and for legislation, and the manager is responsible for accomplishing the Board's policies.
2. The Board of Directors is responsible to all of the voters of the city for enacting laws and authorizing expenditures which are good for the city. If the Board passes bad laws, the voter can readily single out Board members who have not acted in the best interests of the public and do something about it at the polls. All city directors are subject to removal at any time by a recall election.
3. The city manager devotes his entire time to administering city business rather than spending a lot of his time engaging in political activities.
4. City managers are professional career men, not ward-healers. It is the policy of city managers everywhere to encourage city employees to make careers of their jobs, too. The city gets better service when its employees are working for promotion on merit instead of carrying favors with the political bosses.

AFRICA IMPORTS FROM ALABAMA—Inspired by the success of the Negro bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., Negro workers in Johannesburg, South Africa, carry on their own boycott against local bus companies. It started out as a protest against increased fares, but now, as it drags into its third month, the boycott has taken on social and political importance. Typical is the scene above, where many kinds of transportation—including walking—are used.

Big Parties at Pickfair Rated Tops

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — Like the ads say there are limitations but only one is genuine. That is how old-timers in Hollywood, with dreamy eyes, allude to the parties "they used to give at Pickfair."

Many Hollywood hostesses have tried, without lasting or notable success, to recapture the aura of splendor that surrounded the parties that May Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks gave at their hilltop home. A screen credit, in the old days, was less important than a bid to Pickfair. If you were on the "A" list you might see the inside of Pickfair two or three times a month.

Mary and Doug have a special penchant for royalty. There was one source in honor of the duchess of something, whose formally hit a new high for filmland. Every one who amounted to anything was there. There was a receiving line, a polite punch, delicate hors d'oeuvres and soft music. It was a little like a movie in a setting of overdone French—drawing room with the gilt, the brocades, the hand painted piano. But unlike a movie, "nothing dramatic happened."

One thing to be said for Pickfair parties, they never became brawls. Mary's innate good taste prevented that.

But Pickfair wasn't the only place for parties. I think of one at Lew, Cody's. It was after Lew's wedding. Fifteen in her impetuous way, called her friends to say there'd be a reception at Lew's house. Lew was a good host always—there'd be plenty of the essentials for a slambang party in his refrigerator, his kitchen, his rumormonger. Scores of well-wishers showed known of, everybody in the underground. "Your name is Wilma Pianta?" "Yes." Her voice was so low I could hardly hear her. "But I wasn't known by my name then." "What were you called?" "La Ragazza." (To Be Continued)

Kings Like Their Skins, U.S. Dollar

By JAS. MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON — American dollars and a desire to save their skins are good reasons for the kings who are Egyptian President Nasser's neighbors to prefer the West to his anti-Western pro-communism.

Nasser plays footsie with the Russians. But the four kings of the Middle East—Saudi of Saudi Arabia, Hussein of Jordan, Faisal of Iraq, and the Shah of Iran—know they're dead ducks if communism gets a grip on their countries.

Iraq and Iran are already lined up with the West militarily and are receiving American aid. Saudi not only gets American government money but receives 300 million dollars a year from American companies taking oil from his kingdom.

Of them all Jordan, so far on the outside looking in, is the one which can't exist without outside help. And in this past week Jordan King Hussein reshuffled his Cabinet to put a damper on anti-Western, pro-Communist forces in Jordan.

He moved a few days after his Prime Minister, Suleiman Nabulsi, said that if the United States offered Jordan 100 million dollars on condition it fight communism, he would turn it down. Nabulsi also said his government would exchange diplomatic representatives with Russia.

Hussein threw Nabulsi out as prime minister, but later agreed to keep him as foreign minister. Nabulsi heads Jordan's powerful National Socialist party which controls 13 of Parliament's 40 seats. Reports from Jordan interpret the inclusion of Nabulsi in the Cabinet as a concessions to the Socialist party.

But the reshuffle appears to open the door to James P. Richards, former Democratic congressman from South Carolina, who has been touring the Middle East as an American salesman looking for those who want in on President Eisenhower's program of economic and military help. It's still not certain Hussein can survive although he has won the first round. Nasser's influence on the Jordanian masses has been strong, and they may yet revolt. But if Jordan accepts American aid a wedge will have been driven between Jordan and Nasser.

That will leave the Egyptian with only two dependable allies—Syria and Yemen—in his anti-Westernism. Syria, like Egypt, is a republic. There is no king in either place to have a skin-saving abhorrence of communism.

The Arab nations have three things in common: their Arabism, their nationalism, and their hostility to Israel. None of the three would necessarily diminish if all Nasser's neighbors cut loose from him.

But what would diminish would be Russian influence in the area and Nasser's stature as the would be leader of the Arab world. It might mean in the end his isolation and destruction.

Nasser has made himself a hero to the Middle East masses by his defiance of the West. But in that part of the world there is an enormous gap between the poor and the rich.

It becomes too much of a luxury for the latter to stay latched to Nasser when it costs them money and may cost their lives through the advance of communism. But even if the United States manages to link the whole Middle East to its side through economic help, it may be only a temporary victory over communism unless the masses are given reasons, in the form of social and economic benefits, to prefer the West to communism.

A LONELY WALK

Copyright 1956 by Kendall Foster Crossen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

By M. E. CHABER

THE STORY: Milo March, insurance investigator, has gone to Rome to look into the double indemnity claim on the policy of a girl who may have been murdered. Soon after his arrival, Johnny Forness, a deported American gangster, calls him on the phone and tells him "a lot of important people" want the case left alone.

CHAPTER II

I put the receiver back on the hook. One thing was sure. I couldn't complain of being neglected. The only question was why. I knew Johnny Forness. He represented the Syndicate on the West Coast. Then he and his right-hand man, a little gunman named Lucky Lopo, had been deported. The rumor was that Johnny still had a lot to do with crime back in the States. The question was, why was he interested in a girl who was supposed to have taken a lonely walk along a beach and died? The insurance money was too small to attract Johnny Forness. There had to be something else in it.

He'd said he was doing it as a friendly gesture. Johnny never had any friends. If he did have he wouldn't do anything for them unless there was a buck in it. I got dressed and left the hotel. The Intercontinental office was on Via Sistina and that was just around the corner from the hotel. A sleepy-eyed, olive-skinned girl was in the reception room. She looked at me questionably as I entered.

"Signor Luigi Manzo, per piacere," I said. "Mi chiamo Milo March."

A look of intelligence came over her face so I guessed that Intercontinental had told the office I was coming. She picked up the phone and passed along the information that I was there. She put the phone down and told me to go through the door on the other side of her desk.

As I went through the door a short heavy-set man came around the desk with outstretched hand and a big grin. He had black curly hair and dark olive skin. He looked to be in his middle thirties.

I spoke to him. "Ah," he said, his face lighting up. "You speak my language beautifully. How is that? Come and sit down."

"I was here during the war," I explained as I took the chair next to his desk. "Before the invasion. It was an informal visit." He grinned broadly. "Good. Then you are just the man for this business—if anything is to be done about it."

I gave him a cigaret, lit his and mine. "Which reminds me, I suppose Intercontinental's New York office told you I was coming?"

"Certainly," he said.

"When?"

"The cablegram arrived early this morning."

"Who else knew about it besides you?"

"The girl, Wilma Pianta, naturally," he said. "She opens all business communications and places them on my desk."

"How about the girl? Think she might tell someone?"

"I suppose she might mention to a girl friend that an American was coming, certainly no more than that. I will ask her." He picked up the phone and put the question to the girl. He listened a minute and replaced the receiver. "She says that she told no one. I am inclined to believe her. Now, why is this, signore?"

"You know the name John Forness?" I asked.

He nodded. "Everyone in Rome knows the name. He is one of our mistakes which you Americans shipped back to us. I have heard one whisper that he knows something about the murder of Anna Maria Pericoloso."

"He certainly knows about whippers," I said. "I had barely checked into my hotel—and no one knew where I was going to be staying—when Johnny called me and told me to lay off this case."

"He swore beneath his breath. 'Then he must be involved. How did he find out where you were staying?'"

"That would be easy. The question is how did he know that I was coming? Once he knew that, he could have someone waiting to follow me as soon as I landed. Well, what about this case?"

He spread his hands in a gesture of futility. "I have sent the company everything I know. The girl died three weeks ago. The parents put in a claim a week ago. The parents said that she'd gone down to the beach very early to bathe in the ocean because she hadn't been feeling well. Both the family doctor and the police said that her death was accidental. But as I gathered this meager information, the whispers kept occurring."

"Who whispered?"

He shrugged. "You must understand, signore, that Rome is a city of whispers. It goes on all the time, whispers about politics, the love lives of the great, anything. One learns to ignore it. Perhaps the first one came from a clerk in the Interior Ministry, perhaps the casual remark of a friend. Later I heard talk in the wine-shops. Nothing you could pin down, you understand."

"All right," I said impatiently. "What were the whispers?"

"That the girl was murdered, that she'd been on a party with important people and had been left on the beach to die. It was said that many important people were involved and the police had hushed everything up. It is still being said."

"Any names?"

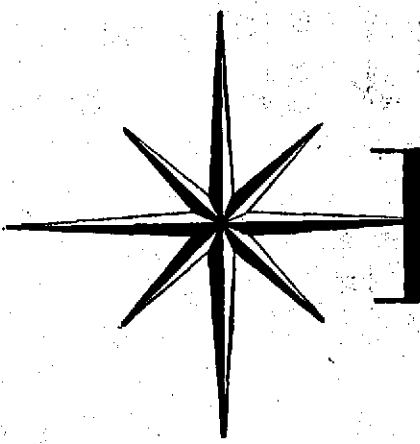

He smiled. "There are always names in the whispers of Rome. This Johnny Forness was mentioned. It is said that he is not as retired as he seems. Then the whispers mention the names of Baron Mario Gambero and Riccardo Balena, the son of the Minister of the Interior."

"Who's Baron Gambero?"

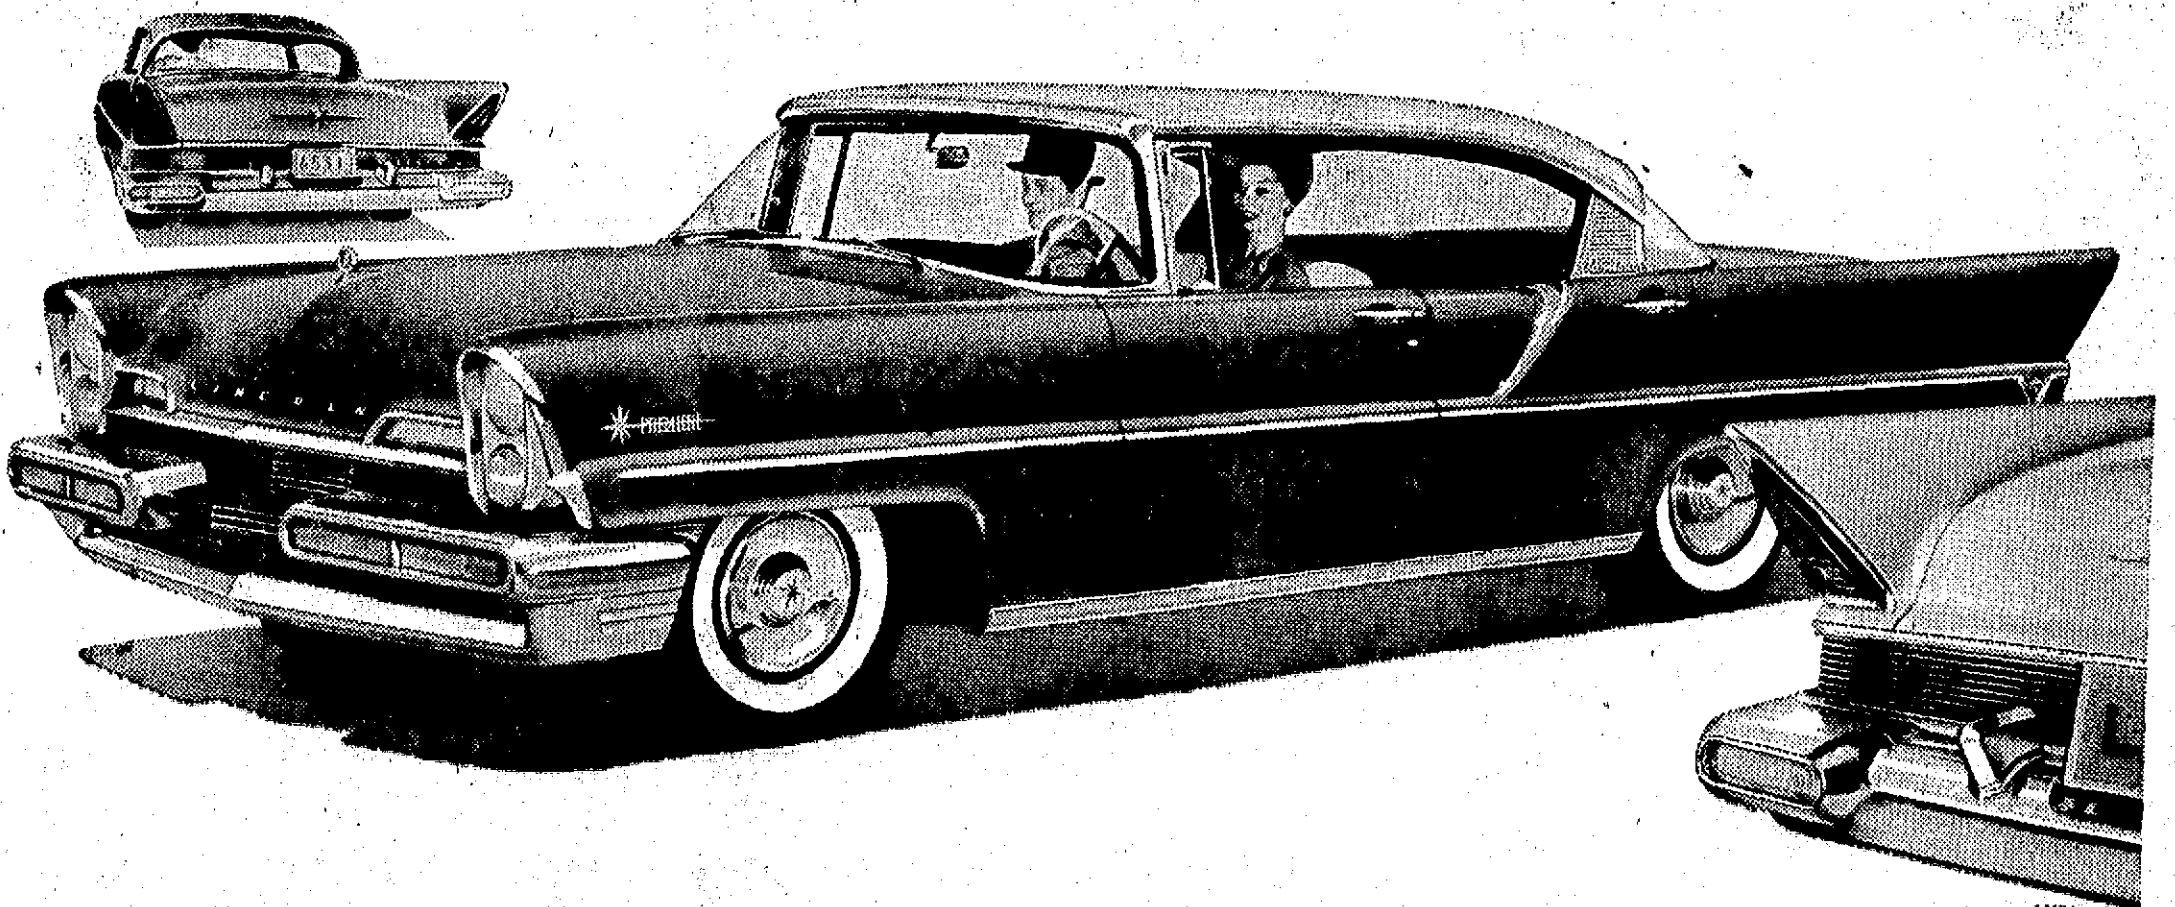

"A man of influence," he said. "Before the war, he was an important fascist. It is believed that now he is one, although he does not openly belong to the party. He is friendly with many men in the government."

"Sounds like a cozy little situation," I said. "What did you do about the whispers, besides mail them to the office?"

He hesitated. "It is not wise for a businessman in Rome to inquire too deeply into such matters. I

Mantle Gets His First Home Run; Redlegs Win

By JOE REICHLER

Of The Associated Press

The 1937 baseball season has officially opened as far as Birdie Tebbets, Bobby Bragan and Mickey Mantle are concerned.

Tebbets finally saw his Cincinnati Redlegs post a victory after four straight defeats — a 10-6 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bragan, who speaks his mind with no thought of the consequences, finally succeeded in bringing about a feud between his Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants after his team's 3-1 loss at the Polo Grounds. Bragan, a month ago, prophesied the Giants would finish last.

Mantle, after four homeless games, finally powdered his first four-bagger of the year as the New York Yankees thrashed the Washington Senators 15-6.

Milwaukee, the National League's sole remaining unbeaten team, made it five victories in a row with a 9-5 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Clem Labine turned in his third game-saving relief for this season as the Dodgers whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1.

Kansas City, which hasn't been able to beat anybody else, gained its third straight success against Detroit 11-7. The A's tied it in the eighth and got four more runs in the ninth off Jim Bunning.

Baltimore beat Tom Brewer for the first time in his career, knocking off the Boston Red Sox 7-3.

Willie Mays hit his third home run in three days to account for all the Giant runs. Hank Bauer hit a grand-slam homer in the Yankees' rout of Chuck Stobbs, an old nemesis, while his mates rubbed it in by pulling off a triple steal.

The Reds clubbed Vinegar Bend Mizell for four runs in the second inning and added four more off Lindy McDaniel in the third.

Johnny Temple and Ed Bailey cracked three hits apiece to pace the Redlegs' 14-hit assault on six St. Louis hurlers. The Cards chipped in with six errors. Tom Acker, third of four Cincinnati pitchers, was credited with the victory. Wally Moon, Ken Boyer and Walker Cooper homered for the losers. Stan Musial continued his early spring hitting with four hits to boost his average to .524.

Ruben Gomez turned back the Pirates with six hits for his second victory. After the game, Giant Manager Bill Rigney denied a request by Bragan for his Pirates to hold a postgame batting practice session. Rigney, still rankled by Bragan's crack that the Giants were the worst team in the National League, growled a verse "to hell with them."

Whitey Ford, supported by a 16-hit attack that included four hits by Gil McDougald, gained his second victory although he had to depart under fire in the seventh inning.

The Braves pounded Bob Rush for nine runs in the first four innings to coast to their fifth victory in a row.

Carl Furillo and Junior Gilliam drove in two runs each as Brooklyn won its fifth in six starts. Roger Craig was credited with the triumph but he has Labine to thank for it. The Dodgers' relief artist took over in the eighth with one out, Brooklyn leading 3-1. He disposed of Ed Bouchee on an infield tap and got Harry Anderson to end the threat with an infield popup.

Joe Ginsberg and Dick Williams drove in two runs each as the Orioles downed the Red Sox.

Robinson Won't Talk About Fullmer

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson refuses to be drawn into any controversial subject — such as rabbit punching — regarding his rematch with Gene Fullmer.

About the meanest thing he will say about the middleweight champion is that he is "awward."

Robinson, opening the Chicago phase of his training for the Fullmer scrap at Chicago Stadium May 1, is quiet and unassuming. Naturally he thinks he will win. But there is no cockiness or overwhelming confidence that long has been associated with him.

He is a 3-1 underdog.

"Fullmer's best offense and defense is his awkwardness," said the 36-year-old Sugar Ray, who will be trying to recapture the middleweight crown for the third time after first winning it from Jake LaMotta at Chicago Stadium in 1951.

"You can't box with this fellow. He keeps his hands up. He is smart enough not to expose himself to get hit. He's very awkward, very unorthodox."

"I think I still have the stuff left in me to do the job," he continued in an interview. "But it is possible, maybe probable, that I won't win. After that I will leave my career definitely near the end of my career. That doesn't necessarily mean I'll retire after this one, however."

Robinson was asked about charges that Fullmer was rabbit punching when he defeated Sugar Ray for the title in New York last Jan. 2.

"Rabbit punching? . . . I don't remember anything about it," Robinson said.

Canadian Wins 2nd Fight in U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Yvon Dufralle, the Canadian boxer-fisherman, headed back to his fishing boat today after scoring his second victory over St. Nicholas Arena.

That's a personal record for the tall, solidly built Canadian light heavyweight champion. He had never won a fight in the U. S. until March 25 when he stopped Clarence Floyd in the seventh round. Floyd subbed for Angelo De Fendis, who withdrew because of a sore right arm.

Dufelle, 27, caught up with De Fendis last night, winning a split decision in an action packed television 10 rounder.

Porkers Forced in Field House by Rain

FAVETTEVILLE, (AP)—The spacious new field house here came in handy for Arkansas Razorbacks yesterday as rain forced them inside on the first day of spring football training.

Some 80 players turned out for practice. They even did some putting under the high field house roof.

A three-quarter speed scrimmage was held yesterday. Coach Jack Mitchell said a full speed scrimmage was scheduled today if weather permits.

George Walker, star quarterback who was sidelined last season because of a knee injury, ran with his teammates and showed no ill effects from an operation.

But Mitchell said Walker's effectiveness could not be determined for several days.

U. S. Seeking to Dissolve Boxing Ring

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—The government has tossed another haymaker at the second round of its legal battle with the International Boxing Club. The blow is aimed at blighting the giant IBC.

In a proposed decree filed yesterday, the government asked the federal court to dissolve the IBC and force its officers, James D. Norris, president, and Arthur M. Wirtz, vice president, to dispose of their stock and interest in the Madison Square Garden Corp. of which Norris is president.

This decree followed the government's victory March 8 in the first round of the antitrust battle when Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled the IBC guilty of monopolizing world championship boxing bouts.

In answer to the government's recommendations, the IBC and the Garden corporation offered to give up all exclusive contracts with bidders and to limit its promotions of title fights to two a year for a five-year period.

The third round will start May 20 when Judge Ryan will hear oral arguments on the decrees. The case could go ultimately to the Supreme Court.

The government proposed also that Norris and Wirtz resign within 30 days as officers or directors of the Garden corporation, and that the corporation be restrained from promising or having an interest in the promotion of world title fights as long as it controls the Garden as an arena.

Also proposed was that Norris and Wirtz be enjoined from promoting championship fights as long as either has a financial interest in the Chicago Stadium, Detroit Olympia or St. Louis Arena.

In addition, the government asked that the defendants be enjoined from enforcing contracts that would prevent an arena owner or operator from leasing the arena to other persons for promoting boxing.

Interviewing Stars Can Be a Bit Trying

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (A) — I went reluctantly to keep a date to interview Luitse Rainer. Our dog had had puppies and our sons were in a happy dither. I drove to M.G.M. Studio wishing I could have stayed home to share the boys' fun.

Luitse was late. That didn't upset me, because being tardy is a movie star's prerogative. But when she arrived she was pouting. She didn't want to be interviewed. But the studio said it had an important outlet and she'd better see me.

"But why should I let you ask me personal questions? Why? What difference does it make to you what I sleep in? What I eat? What I think? Why should you want to know?"

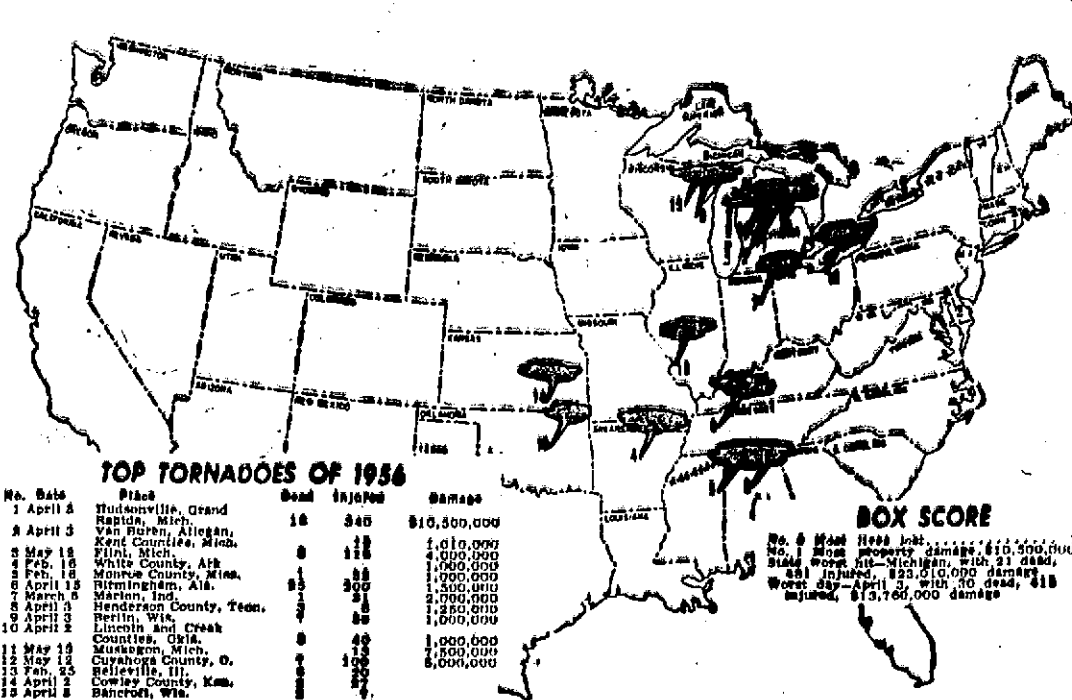

"Miss Rainer," I said, "this may not interest you one bit. But at home I have two sons and five puppies and I'd much rather be there, with them, than here, with you. But I represent the fans who go to see your pictures and it is my job to tell those fans what you are like in real life. Believe me, I do not enjoy this particular day's work any more than you indicate you do. I shall, however, be happy to quote you to show that you can be a very difficult person. You could make this a pleasant hour and you could be courteous."

With that Miss Rainer turned on her great charm and what had started out to be a bad quarter hour and perhaps no story turned into a nice occasion and a pretty good story.

I wished later that when Luitse turned affable, I had talked her into taking one of the pups.

A photographer and I thought up a peachy idea for interviews: take pictures of the star as she talked, using exact quotes for the captions. We tried it out first on Marie Wilson and she, being so effusive and given to gesturing while talking, made an ideal subject.

Next we tried it on a famous star who is noted only for shapely build and well moulded features. She was unable to answer ques-

MAJOR TORNADOES OF 1956, as compiled from preliminary Weather Bureau data, clearly point to Spring as a time for special watchfulness by residents of the central United States—the world's most dangerous tornado area. Civil defense units are on special call throughout this vast region for possible rescue work. In addition, if a tornado-hit locality is declared a major disaster area by the President, as happened in Numbers 1, 3, 6, and 10 above, the Federal Civil Defense Administration can provide funds to aid communities in temporary repair of public facilities. What To Do In a Tornado

- People in open country can view the approach of a tornado and move at right angles to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.
- In towns or cities, seek shelter inside, preferably in a substantial building. Stay away from windows.
- The southwest corner of the basement of a frame house is safer than in a brick or stone house. If there is no basement, lie down on the first floor under a table or bed (preferably in the southwest corner).
- Urban schools: Stay inside, away from windows; remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.
- Rural schools of frame construction: Teachers should remove children to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

tions and look well for the pictures at the same time. A track mind, if I ever saw one. The pictures lacked the sparkle and so did her quotes.

Some stars talk readily, speaking in quotable phrases. John Barrymore was one. His brother Lionel would discuss any subject but himself in a brilliant discursive way. Humphrey Bogart loved to talk on any subject. Fred MacMurray, when he came here in the 30's, was a dull and uninteresting talker. But, having developed a run into some funny things well.

You run into some funny things during interviews. There is one old and still prominent actress whose every sentence is peppered with profanity. But even on her it doesn't sound good. Ava Gardner showed me how to make a really dry martini: with an eye dropper, float two drops of vermouth on a glassful of gin. While visiting Richard Dix, a neighbor dropped in to talk about treatment of mother-in-law. What Dix had to say about in-laws made better reading than his answers to my questions.

Speculations on Possible New TV Trend

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (A) — It's interesting that no spokesman for the television networks has tried to refute the recent remarks of Sylvester L. Weaver on the kind of programming in store for us.

"The networks will fight among themselves for the largest share of the viewer audience and drop news, spectaculars and other event-type programming, cut down in live drama and go to Westerns, kid shows, crime shows and the like."

When he was a top-ranking NBC official, Weaver not only made outstanding contributions to television programming but always enjoyed indulging in a little speculation on the future. His recent remarks in Seattle on programming, however, are less prophecy than reportage of a current situation.

Although the networks have not dropped them, news, "spectaculars" and "event-type" programming has been less frequent this season than last. As winter thaws into spring, TV program fare has become very stale indeed. August has moved back to April.

One would expect, for example, that the networks would try to give this leaden season something of an imaginative lift at the time of Easter. While the regular programs go their regular ways, practically nothing especially new has been added on this weekend. The age-old Easter tones of resurgent life and hope find little reflection on the home screen.

The best viewing available on Sunday includes, for lovers of opera, a two-hour presentation in English of "La Traviata" (NBC-TV); for devotees of the hour's coverage of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas (NBC-TV); and for the theater-minded, the presentation of the "Tony" awards (CBS-TV).

Among the regular weekend programs, Sid Caesar will be at his usual Saturday night stand on

Tribunal Overrules Newest Justice

LITTLE ROCK (A) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today in effect overruled Chief Justice Carlton Harris.

While Harris was Jefferson chancellor he held that issues in a land encroachment suit by Love King and others against George W. Hill had been settled by a Supreme Court ruling an earlier suit against Hill by Thomas W. Morgan and his wife.

The Supreme Court disagreed with Harris' finding that the Morgan suit had been a "class action."

The court agreed, however, that the Morgans could not maintain a second suit because the points had been decided in the earlier case.

Effect of the ruling will be to send the King suit back to Jefferson Chancery Court for a trial on its merits.

Harris, who became chief justice on Jan. 1, did not participate in today's decision. Otherwise the opinion was unanimous.

the TV airwaves. "Who can I write to where a letter of complaint might, just might, help sway somebody's opinion a bit?"

Well, why not take it to headquarters? The president of NBC is Robert Sarnoff, in New York.

Caesar's fans are always vociferous. If enough of them inundated NBC with mail inquiring about Caesar's lot next season, it would be interesting to see what would happen.

And that's advice from one who does not think Caesar is the most refreshing personality on TV.

From the Morning Mail Interesting Facts Taken

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (A) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That you are legally blind if you have 20-200 vision or less — that is, if you can see less at 20 feet than a person with normal vision sees at 200 feet.

That if all the blind people in the world lived in a single city it would have a population of about 7,000,000.

That it has been estimated Soviet Russia and its satellites spend three billion dollars a year on propaganda — more than we do on chewing gum!

That little Rhode Island has the shortest state motto:

"Hope." Making the most egotistical: "I guide." Montant the loveliest sounding: "Gold and Silver." Washington the laziest: "Bye and Bye."

That tree growth is affected by the length of the day. Most trees quit growing within a month if they are limited to eight hours of natural light a day.

That 98 per cent of those hurt in revolving door accidents are women of 65 and older.

That in the United States during 1935 there were 6.4 traffic deaths for every 100 million miles traveled by motor cars. If you have average luck and drive 100 miles every day, the chances are that in about 425 years you'll be killed in a traffic accident.

That there really is a town called Podunk in Massachusetts.

Armed Burglars Are Captured at Blytheville

BLYTHEVILLE (A) — Three

armed men in an automobile were intercepted and captured about 10 miles south of here early today, police said, after an early morning safe burglary some 65 miles south-east of here.

Sheriff William Berryman said that $1,250 in cash, an outboard motor and an adding machine were found in the late model car.

Berryman said that the men gave their names as Lonnie Neal, 43, of Greenwood, Miss., George Garner 35 of Patterdale Ill., and James Reeves 28 of Cairo Ill.

The sheriff said that the car had Illinois license plates but Alabama plates were found in the car.

Blytheville Patrolmen Bill Walker and Fred Hodge and Osceola Night Chief of Police J. G. Prendergast, who made the arrest, said that the men offered no resistance. The officers said that there was a bullet hole in the rear of the car—but they did not fire at it.

At Trumann, Sherman Copple and Harry Eubanks told State Trooper Bill Reid that they "routed" burglars in the Powell Motor Co., with a tin bucket.

They told this story to Reid: Copple and Eubanks, asleep in the rear of a tavern next door to the motor company, were awakened about 4 a.m. by the barking of a dog. They heard someone inside the motor company and noted a car parked outside.

Cotton Carnival Good Will Tours

MEMPHIS (A) — The first of three Cotton Carnival goodwill tours left Memphis today with stops scheduled at Holly Springs, New Albany, Tupelo, Booneville, and Corinth, Miss., and Selma, Bolivar Henderson and Jackson, Tenn.

A second tour is scheduled for April 29 to Arkansas and southeast Missouri and the final tour is set for the Mississippi Delta on May 6. The carnival will be held May 14-18.
